

HEUSSEN: Labour law and mediation listed by FOCUS Top Commercial Law Firms 2018

18. September 2018: In 2018, HEUSSEN is again one of the top recommended commercial law firms in Germany, according to the result of the annual survey conducted by the market research company Statista for the news magazine FOCUS. HEUSSEN was selected for the two practical areas of labour law and mediation.

HEUSSEN has been recommended by colleagues and clients alike in these two specialist areas and is therefore ranked among the top commercial law firms.

Labour law is one of the main pillars of HEUSSEN's advisory services and is one of Focus's top law firms for the third year running. 11 specialized attorneys, including 8 employment law specialists, are active in Berlin, Frankfurt, Munich and Stuttgart and regularly advise national and international companies and groups on individual and collective employment law. A special focus is also on advising and representing executives.

Practice group leader Dr. Ralf Busch from the Munich office comments: "We are delighted about this new choice, which shows that we are highly valued in the market. It is our aim to provide the highest quality in employment law advice and also to cover relevant interfaces to other areas of law, which we have successfully achieved through HEUSSEN's full-service approach".

Mediation is an increasingly important area in various fields of law, whether in labour law, corporate law or commercial law. Corresponding competence is maintained at all locations.

In the Statista survey, a total of around 9,500 lawyers and 3,400 lawyers from the legal departments of leading companies were asked who they know and would commission as legal advisors.
